Dear Penny:

Thanks for your progress reports of 18 and 24 October. It is something of a shock to have costs going up again, but we will try to get the additional expenditure authorized to avoid deleting any of the work planned.

The draft letters concerning your travel vouchers enclosed with your memorandum of 28 October do a good job of justifying shipment of household goods but would result, I am afraid, in having your permanent change of station made effective on your first arrival at [REDACTED] and all per diem paid you reclaimed. I suggest that the portion of the letters relating to first notification of contemplated change of station follow pretty closely the draft enclosed, bearing in mind that it is for General Accounting Office scrutiny. I am sorry that none of us foresaw this dilemma, and hope this works.

Regards,
